Rev. T. Alonzo Harris.

Rev. T. Alonzo Harris.

Alonzo Harris, one of the young men who was salesmen in John White's store in 1854, and for several years previous to that time, returned to Abbeville last Monday, where he renewed some of his old acquaintances. He had returned to Abbeville in the sixties, on a short visit, but had not been here since. He says that but for the Dendy corner he would not have recognized the town. He recognized nobody, and nobody recognized him. He was in a city of strangers until he made himself known, when nobody could have been more heartily welcomed by the few old friends yet remaining. He now lives in Winterville, seven miles east of Athens, and was traveling in the interest of the Athens Banner. He turned out to be a preacher after he left here.

The Seckle Pear.

The Seckle Pear.

Mr. T. P. Milford, who lives five miles North-west of Abbeville, exhibited at this office yesterday, specimens of the Seckle pear, which were superior to anything of the kind that we have ever seen, and it seems to be the best pear for this country. Mr. Milford bought the tree, which is a standard, about five years ago, and it has been bearing for three years. This year the crop from that tree was thought to be two bushels and a half. Mr. Milford expects to grow other trees of the same kind, from cuttings, and will eventually have a good orchard from a single tree. In connection with his farm Mr. Milford grows winter apples successfully.

Deaths.

William G. Neel died last Wednesday, aged William G. Neel died last Wednesday, aged about 63 years.

John Lyon of the Flatwoods, died last Friday, aged about 80 years. He was the father of Mrs. G. A. Douglass.

Mrs. James Sullivan died last Thursday. She was a bride last Christmas, and her death is a most sad one. She was the daughter of Mr. Moseley Edwards.

John Lindsay Baker died at Lowndesville last Saturday of typhoid fever, aged 28 years.

Dr. Preston B. Calhoun died at McCormick last Monday of congestion of the lungs, and was buried at Ninety-Six yesterday.

Killed in a Well.

George Nettles, a colored man in this county came to his death last Saturday from going into an old well belonging to his was gass. A lighted candle had been sent down two or three times and each time it went out, but Nettles thought he would risk going down anyhow. He lived only a short time afterward.

If he had attached a large bush to the well rope and let it down and drawn it up a few times he would cleared the well of the dangerous gas. His death only serves as a warning to other equally careless people.

Nice Entertainment.

Mrs. Knox entertained last night some of MIR. Knox entertained last night some of the pretty young ladies and handsome young men, in honor of the visit of Miss Bessie Epting, of Williamston. Miss Epting has been in town for a week or more, during which time the young people, and old peo-ple, too, have been pleased to show her at-tention.

Widening the Street.

Our people are glad to see that the work of widening the street in front of the Baptist and Episcopal churches is going on. The hands are now moving back the fences and houses, and in a little while the narrow lane

WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE, STAUNTON, VA.—We direct attention to the advertisement of this popular College. It is located in one of the healthlest climates in the world. It presents attractions rarely equaled, espe-cially in music, art and ornamental branches. Its buildings are home-like, grounds attractive, scenery grand. This school enjoys a national reputation and is attended by pupils from nineteen States. To all pupils it is a refined and happy home—teaching sound learning, graceful accomylishments and refined manners. Its graduites are its highest ornaments, and are sought far and wide as teachers. It is endorsed by pupils and patrons in twenty States. For catalogue, write to Rev Dr. Wm. A. Harris, Staunton, Virginia.

The work on the ginnery is progressing, and it is hoped that the machinery will be ready to turn as soon as the crop is ready. The Oil Mill Company are making active preparations for a big business this winter. The low rate of charges for ginning and packing will draw custom for many miles in the country.
